

Police Pension Scheme (2006 scheme membership, fully protected members)

Active ABS Guidance Notes

Please note that your benefit statement is an estimate only and not a guarantee of the actual benefits that you could receive. It reflects the current scheme regulations only.

How we have worked out your pension benefits

We have used the following formula to work out your annual pension benefits.

Pension

$$\frac{\text{Pensionable service (max of 35 years)} \times \text{final pensionable pay}}{70}$$

Lump sum

$$\frac{4 \times \text{Pensionable service (max of 35 years)} \times \text{final pensionable pay}}{70}$$

Membership

This is the period you have worked and been a member of the scheme, together with service you may have transferred into the scheme from another pension provider.

It also includes any added years or proportion of added years you have bought up to the statement calculation date.

Part-time membership

Part-time working is counted as pensionable membership on a pro-rata basis based on actual hours worked as a proportion of full-time work. Membership is scaled down according to the hours worked.

For example, an 'officer' has been with the police force for 20 years, 10 years of which were full-time and 10 years half-time: i.e. with 15 years membership.
Average pensionable pay is £35,000

$$\text{Pension} = \frac{\text{£}35,000 \times 15}{70} = \text{£}7,500$$

$$\text{Lump sum} = 4 \times \text{£}35,000 \times 15 = \text{£}30,000$$

Pensionable pay

The pensionable pay figure, for the purposes of this statement, is generally based on the contributions you paid in the last financial year. If you are a part-time officer, your pensionable pay has been increased to the whole-time equivalent rate with a corresponding reduction to your service to reflect your part-time hours.

The final pensionable pay we will use to calculate your actual benefits upon leaving, will generally be the greatest of:

- pensionable pay in the 12 months prior to retirement
- pensionable pay in either of the two preceding years

- pensionable pay averaged over any three consecutive years in the seven years before that

Part-time additional hours

The statement includes any part-time additional hours worked since, 1 July 2007, which were made pensionable from that date.

Death grant nomination

If you should die in service as an active member of the New Police Pension Scheme 2006, the Police Authority would pay a death grant. The amount of the grant is normally three times your annual pensionable pay at the time of death (or immediately before any period of absence without pay). If you work part-time, the lump sum will be three times your annual pensionable pay as a part-time worker.

The Police Authority would normally pay the death grant to:

- your spouse or civil partner, if you have one
- If you have no spouse or civil partner, and at the discretion of the police authority, to an unmarried partner (provided certain conditions are satisfied);
- If you have no spouse, civil partner or declared unmarried partner, and again at the discretion of the police authority, to a person nominated by you (the form is available on our website);
- A personal representative, usually the executor of your will and thus will form part of your estate.

Partner Pensions

The scheme provides benefits, similar to those for a surviving spouse or civil partner, for an eligible partner with whom the police officer has not entered into marriage or formed a civil partnership. Further details and a nomination form are available on our website.

Lifetime Allowance

No account has been taken of possible breaches of lifetime allowance for higher earners, i.e. the figures do not include any potential tax charge if your pension benefits exceed the lifetime allowance.

The statement provided is an estimate only and not a guarantee of the actual benefits you could receive. Please refer to our website for further information regarding your statement. You should consult Your Pension Service before making any decisions with regards to these pension benefits. Please note, under the current regulations, we are obliged to provide one estimate of pension benefits per year on request. Further requests may incur a charge.

If you are unhappy with the accuracy or any decision made in relation to your pension, please inform your employer or the Pensions Helpdesk in the first instance. If you are still dissatisfied after this, you have the right to appeal - further details can be found on our website
